Barrett-Jackson became aware of suspicious activity related to some of its computer systems. It promptly took steps to secure its systems and initiated an investigation. The investigation determined that certain files were copied from the system as part of a cyber incident on or around November 25, 2024. While this effort was ongoing, on or around February 7, 2025, it was determined that name and payment card data related to fifteen (15) Washington residents were in the relevant files. On March 7, 2025, Barrett-Jackson provided written notice of this incident to those individuals. The data review efforts continued and were largely completed on or around July 1, 2025, at which time Barrett-Jackson determined the full scope of personal information potentially affected. Through additional address validation efforts, on July 25, 2025, it was determined that this included information related to approximately nine hundred forty four (944) additional Washington residents. On or about July 31, 2025, Barrett-Jackson provided written notice of this incident to potentially affected individuals, including Washington residents. Barrett-Jackson is also working to implement additional safeguards. Additionally, as part of its notification, Barrett-Jackson is providing individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud, as demonstrated in the attached Exhibit A. Barrett-Jackson is also providing individuals with access to credit monitoring services for twelve (12) months at no cost to the individual.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
