Washington State Office of the Attorney General 1125 Washington Street SE PO Box 40100 Olympia, WA 98504

Dear Attorney General Nick Brown:

Our client T.R.A. Industries, Inc., dba Huntwood Industries (Huntwood Industries) suffered a ransomware attack on its computer systems on August 9, 2025. It was able to quickly terminate the intruder's access to its systems. It then spent several days restoring its systems using backup data.

Based on the point of intrusion and how its network segregates employee and customer data, Huntwood Industries determined that no customer data was impacted by the ransomware attack. However, some files containing employee data were situated in the portion of the network that was subject to the attack. Although no direct evidence of unauthorized access to these files was found, the investigation was unable to conclusively eliminate the possibility of access. Therefore, in an abundance of caution, Huntwood Industries is notifying employees of this potential data security incident.

Today, Huntwood Industries will provide notification to potentially affected individuals by postal mail. Huntwood Industries is providing notification to 12,122 employees and their dependents, including 9,612 residents of Washington. Notification to individuals was not delayed as a result of a law enforcement investigation.

The types of personal information that may have been impacted by this incident are name, date of birth, Social Security Number, address and, for a limited number of individuals, financial account number.

Huntwood Industries has acted in an expedient manner to notify potentially affected individuals as soon as possible.

Please let us know if you have any further questions about this incid	lent.

Notice of Data Breach

Dear Sample A. Sample:

We are writing to inform you of a data security incident that may have involved your personal information. We are reaching out at our earliest opportunity as we take the protection of your information very seriously.

This letter provides additional information about what happened, what we did in response, and what steps you can take to further protect your information.

What Happened

On August 5, 2025, our Information Services team detected unusual traffic on our network. On August 9, 2025, an unauthorized intruder activated ransomware on our computer systems. We were able to quickly respond and terminate the intruder's access to our systems. We then began the process of restoring our systems using backup data and determining what information could have been accessed by the unauthorized intruder. On August 29, 2025, we finished our review of unencrypted data on our computer systems that may have contained personal information.

What Information Was Involved

After completing our investigation, we determined that the following personal information was contained in files that could have been accessed by the unauthorized intruder: name, [Extra1] [Extra2] [Extra3] and address. While we do not believe that this information was accessed by the unauthorized intruder, we are providing this notification in an abundance of caution because we cannot definitively establish the scope of file access.

What We Are Doing

After becoming aware of the security incident, we took immediate action to identify and remove the unauthorized intruder and block further unauthorized activity.

What You Can Do

We encourage you to remain vigilant by monitoring your credit report and account statements. If you believe there is an unauthorized account opened in your name, or any unauthorized withdrawals from a financial account, please address the suspicious activity with the appropriate entity immediately.

To assist you in monitoring your credit report, we are offering complimentary credit monitoring through the link provided below. For more information on how to place a credit freeze and check your credit report, along with additional recommendations on how you can protect your personal information, please see the reference guide below.

How to Order a Free Credit Report

To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com, call toll-free at 1-877-322-8228, or complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form on the Federal Trade Commission's website at www.consumer.ftc.gov and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, PO Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. After obtaining your credit report, review it for any inaccuracies. If there are accounts or charges you did not authorize, notify the appropriate consumer reporting agency in writing.

How to Place a Fraud Alert on Your Credit File

A fraud alert helps protect you against the possibility of an identity thief opening new credit accounts in your name. When a merchant checks the credit history of someone applying for credit, the merchant gets a notice that the applicant may be the victim of identity theft. The alert notifies the merchant to take steps to verify the identity of the applicant. You can place a fraud alert on your credit report by calling any one of the three largest nationwide consumer reporting agencies. For more information on fraud alerts, you may also contact the Federal Trade Commission.

How to Place a Credit Freeze

A credit freeze is designed to prevent potential creditors from accessing your credit file without your consent. Unlike with a fraud alert, you must place a credit freeze on your credit file at each consumer reporting agency individually. The consumer reporting agency may require proper identification prior to honoring your request. There is no charge to place or lift a credit freeze. For more information on credit freezes, you may contact the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies or the Federal Trade Commission.
