Nature of the Data Event

On or about February 26, 2025, DermCare became aware of suspicious activity related to its computer systems. DermCare quickly took steps to secure the network and investigate what occurred. On March 3, 2025, DermCare learned certain patient information could have been impacted. DermCare promptly launched an investigation with the assistance of third-party forensic specialists to determine the nature and scope of the activity. As a result of the investigation, DermCare and the forensic specialists determined that certain files were accessed or taken without authorization between February 14, 2025 and February 26, 2025. Therefore, DermCare undertook a comprehensive review of these files to determine if any sensitive information could be affected, and to whom it related. Because of the complexity of the data, it was not until March 2, 2026, that the specialists could identify the individuals whose data could have been impacted and determined there was sufficient information to provide direct notice to individuals.

The information that could have been subject to unauthorized access for state residents includes name, date of birth, Social Security number, driver's license or state ID number, health information, and health insurance information.

Notice to Washington Residents

Dermcare began providing notice to individuals on the website of certain practices it operates on May 2, 2025 and notified the Department of Health and Human Services on May 2, 2025. Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
