Acadia Healthcare Company, Inc. ("Acadia") recently completed its investigation of an incident that involved unauthorized access to one email account and an associated SharePoint account through social engineering. Acadia first became aware of the incident on March 25, 2026, when it detected unusual activity involving a user's email account. Acadia immediately secured the email account and an investigation was launched with the assistance of a third-party forensic investigation firm.

Through the investigation it was determined that an unauthorized party gained access to one email account and an associated SharePoint account through social engineering. Between March 21, 2026 and March 25, 2026 and on July 13, 2026, the unauthorized party accessed and acquired certain emails and SharePoint files.

The investigation confirmed that this incident was limited to the one email account and associated SharePoint account and did not involve Acadia's electronic health record systems. Importantly, this incident did not disrupt Acadia's operations or its ability to care for patients.

A review was initiated to determine the contents of those emails and files involved in the incident. Through this review, on August 21, 2026, Acadia identified files containing patient information, including names, addresses, dates of birth, diagnoses, medications, treatment information, health insurance information, provider names, and/or dates of service. For some individuals, the files also contained their Social Security numbers, driver's license numbers, and/or taxpayer identification numbers.

On September 30, 2026[1], Acadia mailed notification letters via United States Postal Service First-Class mail to individuals whose information was involved, including 1,093 Washington residents in accordance with Wash. Rev. Code § 19.255.010 and HIPAA (45 CFR § 164.400 et seq.) A copy of the notification letter is enclosed. Acadia is offering individuals whose Social Security numbers, driver's license numbers, and/or taxpayer identification numbers were involved in the incident complimentary one-year memberships to credit monitoring services. Acadia has also established a dedicated, toll-free call center to answer questions that letter recipients may have.

To help prevent something like this from happening again, additional safeguards and technical security measures have been implemented.

[1] Acadia began mailing notices to residents of other states on May 22, 2026, as their information was identified during the course of its review of the files involved in the incident.

If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact the Federal Trade Commission and/or the Attorney General's office in your state. You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report.

Obtain a copy of the police report in case you are asked to provide copies to creditors to correct your records. Contact information for the Federal Trade Commission is as follows:

- Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580, 1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338), www.identitytheft.gov

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.

Acadia's mailing address is 4020 Aspen Grove Drive, Suite 900. Franklin, TN 37067 and its phone number is (615) 861-6000.
