To Whom It May Concern:

On behalf of Glucobit, Inc. ("Reframe"), I am writing to provide notice of a security event.

On May 1, 2026, Reframe discovered that a single system was accessed without authorization. Reframe acted quickly to stop the activity and engaged cybersecurity experts to assist with an investigation. While Reframe was able to confirm the limited scope of the issue, on June 11, 2026, our investigation found that, before it was addressed, some personal information was affected. The specific information varies, but may include first and last name, email addresses, and user submissions about their drinking habits, self-reporting questionnaires and assessments, and coping mechanisms. Reframe does not collect Social Security Numbers, dates of birth, driver's license numbers, addresses, financial information (including credit card information), or biometric information.

Reframe is notifying approximately 3,181 Washington residents. A sample individual notice is attached as Exhibit A.

The security event did not affect the security of customer accounts. Protecting the privacy of personal information is a top priority for Reframe, and Reframe remains committed to maintaining the privacy of personal information in its possession and has taken many precautions to safeguard it and continually evaluates and modifies its practices and internal controls to enhance the security and privacy of personal information.

If your office requires any further information in this matter, please do not hesitate to contact me at (206) 839-4352 or jsantiesteban@orrick.com.

Respectfully,

/s/ Joseph C. Santiesteban

Re: Notice of Data Breach

Dear Reframe User:

We're writing to let you know about a security incident that involved some information from your Reframe account. The trust you place in us is something we take seriously, and as part of our commitment to you, we're providing this notice to explain what happened, what information may have been involved, what we are doing, and what steps you can take to protect yourself online.

WHAT HAPPENED

Reframe recently discovered that a single system was accessed without authorization. We acted quickly to stop the activity and engaged cybersecurity experts to assist with an investigation. While we were able to confirm the limited scope of the issue, our investigation found that, before we addressed it, some of your personal information uploaded to Reframe was downloaded without authorization on or around May 1, 2026.

WHAT INFORMATION WAS INVOLVED

Your personal information involved was [REDACTED]

The incident did not include your Reframe password, and it did not include your home or mailing address, any payment card or payment account information or any other financial information. Reframe payments are handled through separate systems that were not affected. We do not collect Social Security numbers, driver's license numbers, or other government identifiers, so none were involved.

We also have no indication that any of the information involved in this incident has been misused.

WHAT WE ARE DOING

This incident did not involve your Social Security number, payment information, mailing address, or any financial information. However, to give you added peace of mind, we are offering you 12 months of complimentary credit monitoring and dark web monitoring services through TransUnion, at no cost to you. Details on how to enroll are included below the signature line.

We understand that what you share with Reframe is your journey and protecting that trust is something we take to heart. In addition to the comprehensive security measures our company had in place prior to the incident, we have taken steps to further enhance the security of our systems, including enhancing our security and monitoring controls. We will continue to advance our IT security and data privacy controls to stay ahead of an ever-evolving threat landscape.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

It is always a good idea to be cautious of unsolicited communications—whether by email, text message, or phone—that reference your health, wellness, or personal habits. These communications could be phishing or social-engineering attempts. Do not click links or provide additional personal information in response to suspicious messages.

As an added measure, we encourage you to take advantage of the complimentary credit monitoring and dark web monitoring we are providing through TransUnion, at no cost to you. You can enroll using the instructions provided below the signature line. We also encourage you to wish to review your account statements periodically as a general precaution and to review the additional information about identity protection below the signature line.

For More Information

We have established a dedicated call center to answer questions about the security incident. If you have any questions, please call the call center at 1-844-593-7750, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. ET Monday through Friday, excluding major U.S. holidays.

We deeply regret that this security incident occurred, and we remain committed to protecting the information users entrust to us.

Sincerely,

Reframe Support Team

MORE INFORMATION ABOUT IDENTITY PROTECTION

INFORMATION ON OBTAINING A FREE CREDIT REPORT

U.S. customers are entitled under U.S. law to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit bureaus. To order your free credit reports, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call toll-free +1 (877) 322-8228.

INFORMATION ON IMPLEMENTING A FRAUD ALERT OR A SECURITY FREEZE

You can contact the three major credit bureaus at the addresses below to place a fraud alert on your credit report. A fraud alert indicates to anyone requesting your credit file that you suspect you are a possible victim of fraud. A fraud alert does not affect your ability to get a loan or credit. Instead, it alerts a business that your personal information might have been compromised and requires that business to verify your identity before issuing you credit. Although this may cause some short delay if you are the one applying for the credit, it might protect against someone else obtaining credit in your name.

A security freeze prohibits a credit reporting agency from releasing any information from a consumer's credit report without written authorization. However, please be aware that placing a security freeze on your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prevent the timely approval of any requests you make for new loans, credit, mortgages, employment, housing, or other services. A credit reporting agency may not charge you to place, temporarily lift, or permanently remove a security freeze.

To place a fraud alert or a security freeze on your credit report, you must contact the three credit bureaus below:

Equifax	Experian	TransUnion
Consumer Fraud Division	Credit Fraud Center	TransUnion LLC
P.O. Box 740256	P.O. Box 9554	P.O. Box 2000
Atlanta, GA 30374	Allen, TX 75013	Chester, PA 19022-2000
(800) 525-6285	(888) 397-3742	(877) 322-8228
www.equifax.com	www.experian.com	www.transunion.com

To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Your full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. If you have moved in the past five (5) years, the addresses where you have lived over those prior five (5) years;
5. Proof of current address such as a current utility bill or a telephone bill; and
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, military identification, etc.).

You may also contact the U.S. Federal Trade Commission (FTC) for further information on fraud alerts, security freezes, and how to protect yourself from identity theft. The FTC can be contacted at 400 7th St. SW, Washington, DC 20024; telephone +1 (877) 382-4357 or www.consumer.gov/idtheft.

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

Your state Attorney General may also have advice on preventing identity theft, and you should report instances of known or suspected identity theft to law enforcement, your state Attorney General, or the FTC.
