Dear Veterans and Military Families,

Like many Washingtonians, I come from a family of veterans. My late father was proud of his Navy service, both of my grandfathers served in the military, and many of my uncles fought in World War II. Their experience instilled in me an ethic of respect and appreciation for military service.

The Attorney General’s Office is proud to support our military service members, veterans, and their families. These proud Americans have done their part to honor and serve our country—and it’s only right to honor and serve them in return.

In 2017, at my request, the Legislature created the Attorney General’s Office of Military and Veteran Legal Assistance. We are expanding the civil legal assistance and resources available to our state’s military service members and veterans. This guide is part of that initiative, helping to educate veterans, military personnel, and their families about their legal rights and the resources available to them.

The Office of Military and Veteran Legal Assistance is actively working to recruit and train volunteer attorneys, and maintains a registry of resources useful to military service members, veterans, and their families when they encounter legal issues. My office also supports military and veteran families by bringing legal actions against businesses that violate the rights of our service members—authority granted by the Legislature at my request. For example, my office sued a Pierce County towing company for illegally selling a sailor’s car while he was deployed.

Military service members and veterans deserve the support of the legal community, and the Washington State Attorney General’s Office is working to make sure our state serves those who have served our country in uniform.

It is an honor to be able to serve Washington’s veterans, military personnel, and their families.

Sincerely,

Bob Ferguson
Washington State Attorney General
Dear Veterans and Families,

On behalf of over 560,000 veterans who call Washington State home, thank you for your service to our state and our nation. Your Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs now stands ready to connect you and your family members to the benefits you earned through your military service.

Washington State is home to many agencies and officials like the Attorney General, who understand how important it is to “Serve Those Who Served.”

Whether you are currently transitioning from active duty to civilian life, or whether you transitioned twenty years ago, let us help connect you with the benefits you earned.

You can visit your Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs online at www.dva.wa.gov, email us at benefits@dva.wa.gov or call 1-800-562-2308.

We look forward to hearing from you!

Sincerely,

Lourdes E. Alvarado-Ramos
Director, Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs
About This Guide

In recognition of their service to our country in uniform, there are federal and state laws that extend certain rights and protections to military service members, veterans, and their families. There are, for example, laws to help these individuals avoid credit and foreclosure problems, and laws to protect against discrimination in employment and housing. Veterans and military personnel may also be entitled to healthcare, education, and other benefits.

This guide summarizes in one place some of the many legal rights, protections, and resources available to Washington’s military service members, veterans, and their families. It is designed to help promote awareness and understanding about the laws and protections among military service members, veterans, and others, to help current and former military service members see the full benefit these laws provide.

Specifically, the guide provides information about the following:

- Legal assistance and proceedings;
- Consumer protections;
- Employment rights and protections;
- Education benefits and rights;
- Housing laws and benefits;
- Family law proceedings and rights;
- Health care resources;
- Disability compensation and accommodation; and
- Other issues, such as immigration and discharge upgrades.

About the Attorney General’s Office

The Washington State Attorney General is the chief legal officer for the state, leading a team of attorneys and staff in representing state agency clients and the public interest as directed by state law. The mission of the Office of the Attorney General is to provide excellent, independent, and ethical legal services to the State of Washington and to protect the rights of its people.

State law generally prohibits the Attorney General’s Office from representing private individuals in court or other legal proceedings, either to bring an action on behalf of an individual or to defend an individual. Consequently, the Attorney General’s Office is not authorized to provide legal advice to residents on their personal matters.

Disclaimer

The information in this guide is provided as a resource for general educational purposes and is not provided for the purpose of giving legal advice of any kind. Nor does this guide represent a legal opinion of the Attorney General.

The information provided in this guide may or may not apply to an individual’s circumstances. Readers should not rely on information in this guide regarding any specific applications of the law without seeking private legal counsel or legal assistance.

This guide was last updated September 2018. As laws and regulations change, the statements and resources included may not be up to date.
Overview

The legal process can be confusing and often intimidating. Unfortunately, the realities of military service and overseas deployments can sometimes create additional barriers to accessing our justice system.

The information provided in this chapter relates to laws designed to protect the rights and interests of current or former military service members in legal proceedings. It includes information about resources available to veterans and military personnel who might need legal assistance or help navigating the legal process.

Seeking Legal Assistance

In 2017, at the request of the Attorney General, the State Legislature passed a bill creating the Attorney General’s Office of Military and Veteran Legal Assistance. The office was created for the purpose of promoting and facilitating civil legal assistance programs, pro bono services, and self-help services for military service members, veterans, and their family members domiciled or stationed in Washington.

Under the bill, the office has the authority to recruit and train volunteer attorneys, identify programs that provide pro bono services, and maintain a registry of resources across Washington State offering legal assistance services. The office also can receive requests for legal assistance, and assess and refer these requests to volunteer attorneys and programs. A list of programs offering legal assistance services and informational resources specifically for military service members and veterans is available in the appendix.

If you contact the Attorney General’s Office of Military and Veteran Legal Assistance, you will receive assistance determining what services you may qualify for and help navigating the available resources. Some resources include the potential for qualifying individuals to be connected to a lawyer who can provide legal advice or representation. However, the Attorney General’s Office of Military and Veteran Legal Assistance may not directly provide legal assistance, advice, or representation to individuals unless otherwise authorized by law. Moreover, the office may not provide assistance to individuals facing criminal matters.

You can contact the Attorney General’s Office of Military and Veteran Legal Assistance by contacting the Program Manager Travis Alley by phone at 206-464-6431 or via email at travisa@atg.wa.gov.
Benefits and Claims Assistance

To pursue federal or state benefits, veterans can access help from the Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs. The department's Veterans Service Offices and statewide referral network are staffed with qualified service officers who can assist veterans and family members in accessing benefits.

More information is available online at www.dva.wa.gov, or by calling toll-free at 1-800-562-2308 or emailing benefits@dva.wa.gov.

Protection Against Default Judgments

A “default judgment” is a judgment for a party bringing a lawsuit (plaintiff) without a full hearing on the merits of the case because the person against whom the lawsuit is brought (defendant) failed to appear or defend against the lawsuit. Under the federal Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA), certain service members are protected from default judgments in civil actions, including child custody proceedings, if their active duty status makes it difficult for them to defend their rights in court. Before a court can grant a default judgment, a plaintiff must file an affidavit stating the defendant is not on active duty in military service, which can be verified online by checking a database maintained by the Department of Defense at scra.dmdc.osd.mil/scra.

If a default judgment is nonetheless entered against an active duty service member, he or she may ask the court to set aside the judgment in certain circumstances. The service member must file a motion demonstrating that military service prejudiced his or her ability to defend the case and that there was a meritorious claim or defense.

The state version of the SCRA (RCW 38.42.050) also contains protections for certain state-activated service members and their dependents against default judgments.

Stay of Proceedings

A “stay of proceedings” postpones a lawsuit. Under federal law, a court may order a stay of proceedings in civil litigation in circumstances where a service member's ability to participate in the litigation, as either the plaintiff or the defendant, is materially affected by military service. This protection applies to service members who are in active duty status or within 90 days from release of active duty.

State law (RCW 38.42.060) also allows for a stay of proceedings to protect the legal interests of certain state-activated service members.

Disability Accommodation and the Courts

Both the Washington Law Against Discrimination and the federal American with Disabilities Act require that government services and programs, including courts and administrative processes, are accessible for individuals with a disability. Qualifying disabilities include, for example, Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) and Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI).

To make a Washington State court service, program, or activity accessible, an individual with a disability can request an accommodation under General Rule 33, which is a rule applicable to all state courts. The specific accommodation provided will vary depending on the nature of the disability, but in some instances could include the appointment of legal counsel.

More information about making an accommodation request is available at www.courts.wa.gov.
Veterans’ Treatment Courts

Sometimes veterans get involved in the criminal justice system, and sometimes that involvement stems from behavior associated with invisible wounds of war. Veterans’ treatment courts provide an opportunity for defendants to connect with treatment service to address particular issues that may have contributed to the conduct that led to arrest or other issues before the court. Veterans’ treatment courts are a growing national trend because of their success in helping control costs, reducing recidivism, and improving the lives of the program participants and their families.

Veterans’ treatment courts acknowledge the unique circumstances and challenges facing veterans. Both the veteran and the community are better served by avoiding unnecessary incarceration and by connecting the veteran to needed mental health or substance use disorder services.

Washington State encourages local jurisdictions to establish veterans’ treatment courts and other effective specialty and therapeutic courts. There are a number of veterans’ treatment courts operating throughout the state. Because veterans’ treatment courts are established locally, there can be different eligibility and participation criteria.

More information about veterans’ treatment courts, including a list of jurisdictions operating veterans’ treatment courts and the contact information for such courts can be found online at www.courts.wa.gov/court_dir/?fa=court_dir.psc&tab=7.
Overview

A priority for the Washington Attorney General’s Office is to help safeguard consumers from deceptive and unfair business practices. Unfortunately, veterans and military personnel can be specifically targeted by scam artists and unscrupulous businesses, and the Attorney General provides consumer intelligence and support resources so current and former military service members are better equipped to protect themselves from consumer fraud.

In addition to consumer protection laws that apply to everyone, there is an important federal law, the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA), which provides a number of specific consumer protections for military service members who are active in federal service. The SCRA defines “servicemembers” as those who are on federal active duty in the Armed Forces of the United States. It also includes members of the National Guard and reservists called to federal active duty for a period in excess of 30 consecutive days. Washington State has adopted many of the same protections as the SCRA under state law (RCW 38.42), providing protections for military service members active in state service as well. These laws and others exist so members of the Armed Forces can focus their full attention on their military responsibilities without adverse consequences for them or their families.

The Washington State Attorney General’s Office has authority to enforce the SCRA in support of Washington’s military families. Individuals concerned their SCRA rights have been violated, or who have another consumer concerns, should file a consumer complaint with the Attorney General’s Office. Information on how to file complaint is at the end of this chapter.
Credit and Debt

Managing credit and debt is important for everyone, including military service members. Not only can poor credit and excessive debt result in having to pay higher interest rates, it can also prevent an individual from being able to obtain or retain a security clearance. The Attorney General’s Office provides consumer information about credit and debt at www.atg.wa.gov/credit-debt. In addition, military service members should be aware of the specific protections under the law.

Interest Rates Capped at 6%

The federal SCRA allows service members to cap the interest rates on most preexisting loans or obligations at 6% per year while on active duty. The 6% interest rate cap applies to mortgages, credit cards, car loans, other installment loans, and some student loans as well. “Interest” includes fees and other charges. To qualify for the 6% interest rate cap:

- The service member must currently be on active duty;
- The debt must have been incurred prior to entering active duty; and
- Military service materially affects the service member’s ability to pay.

To initiate the interest rate reduction, the service member must:

- Send a written request to his or her lender;
- Show how military service materially affects the service member’s ability to pay; and
- Include a copy of his or her military orders.
The request to the lender may be sent any time during active duty and up to 180 days after release from active duty. All interest in excess of 6% is forgiven during the covered period and cannot accrue or become due after service.

A sample SCRA interest rate reduction request letter is included in the appendix to this guide.

Free Copy of Credit Report

A credit report includes information on where you live, how you pay your bills, and whether you’ve been sued or have filed for bankruptcy. Businesses use the information in a credit report to evaluate applications for credit, insurance, employment, and renting or buying a home.

Federal law requires each of the nationwide credit reporting companies — Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion — to provide an individual with a free copy of his or her credit report once every 12 months upon request. The only official site to request a free annual credit report is www.annualcreditreport.com.

For security reasons, annualcreditreport.com does not work outside the U.S. and its territories. Service members stationed outside the U.S. can call 1-877-322-8228 for more information on obtaining their free credit report.

Active Duty Alerts

Under federal law, a deploying service member can place an “active duty alert” on his or her credit report at no cost. The alert helps minimize the risk of identity theft during deployment, requiring businesses to take extra steps before issuing credit in the service member’s name. Active duty alerts last for one year and can be renewed to match the period of deployment.

To place an active duty alert, a service member should contact any one of the three nationwide credit reporting companies:

- Equifax: 1-800-525-6285, www.equifax.com
- Experian: 1-888-397-3742, www.experian.com
- TransUnion: 1-800-680-7289, www.transunion.com

Military Lending Act

The federal Military Lending Act requires that many types of consumer credit offered to active duty service members and their dependents include certain protections. Under the law:

- Lenders are prohibited from securing the loan by holding a check or car title, or obtaining access to a bank account;
- A clear description of payment obligations and other disclosures must be provided;
- Mandatory arbitration clauses and waivers of legal rights may not be included as loan terms; and
- Interest rates and most fees are capped at an annual percentage rate (APR) of 36%.

These protections apply to credit cards and payday loans, as well as other types of credit. The federal Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) has the authority to enforce the Military Lending Act along with other federal consumer financial laws. More information about the CFPB and information on how to file a complaint is available at www.consumerfinance.gov.

Payday Loans to Military Borrows

In addition to federal protections, Washington law provides other protections to military borrowers of payday loans or “small loans.” State law (RCW 31.45.210) provides that payday lenders:

- Cannot garnish any wages or salary paid for service in the Armed Forces when attempting to collect a delinquent loan;
- Cannot contact the military chain of command to try to collect a delinquent loan;
- Must defer all collection activity against a borrower during the time he or she is deployed to a combat or combat support posting; and
- Must honor the terms of any repayment agreement made with the borrower, military financial counselors, or third-party credit counselors.

Military borrowers concerned these provisions are being violated should file a complaint with either the Collection Agencies

Washington’s Collection Agency Act (RCW 19.16) and the federal Fair Debt Collections Practices Act govern the practices of “collection agencies,” which are businesses that collect debts for other businesses. These laws do not apply to businesses directly collecting on their own accounts.

While there are no military-specific provisions, military service members and civilian consumers have rights under the laws governing debt collection. For example, a debt collector may contact an individual’s supervisor — which is the commanding officer in the military — but only to find out where the person who owes the debt lives, his or her phone number, and where the individual works. A debt collector may not tell the individual’s supervisor that a debt is owed and typically may only contact the supervisor once. Military service members who have collection agencies repeatedly contacting their commanding officer or chain of command should consider filing a complaint with the Attorney General’s Office as described later in this chapter.

Motor Vehicles

For military personnel and veterans, just like for many consumers, a car is one of the most expensive purchases they make. Unfortunately, auto sales and financing scams are among the leading causes of financial problems for military service members.

Whether you are a military service member, a veteran, or a civilian, it is always better to be an informed consumer. The more you know, the less stressful and confusing the car buying process can be. For example, a persistent myth is that car buyers have a three-day “cooling off” period to cancel a motor vehicle purchase, but there is no three-day right of cancellation under Washington law.
Consumer Protection

The Attorney General’s Office provides information to help consumers understand their rights, and tips and suggestions to keep in mind when buying or leasing a car. For additional information, visit www.atg.wa.gov/cars-0.

Washington Lemon Law

The Washington State Motor Vehicle “Lemon Law” (RCW 19.118) was adopted to help new vehicle owners who have substantial continuing problems with warranty repairs. Your new vehicle may qualify as a “lemon” if it has at least one significant defect that has been subject to a reasonable number of attempts to diagnose or repair the problem covered under the manufacturer’s warranty. The law allows the owner to request a free arbitration hearing through the Lemon Law Administration of the Attorney General’s Office. A favorable arbitration decision can result in the lemon vehicle being replaced.

An owner of any new vehicle purchased in Washington can request arbitration under the Lemon Law at any time within 30 months of the vehicle’s original retail delivery date. Military service members assigned to duty or living in Washington who brought a new vehicle from another state are also covered by Washington’s Lemon Law if the vehicle was purchased or leased with a manufacturer’s written warranty within the last 30 months, and if it meets the other standards and eligibility requirements.

For more information or to request an arbitration hearing, you can call the Attorney General’s Office Lemon Law Administration at 1-800-541-8898 or visit www.atg.wa.gov/lemon-law-0.

Automobile Lease Termination

The federal SCRA allows active duty service members to terminate an automobile lease without having to pay early termination charges if:

• The lease was entered into prior to active duty, when the service member is called to active duty for 180 days or longer; or
• The lease was entered into during active duty, when the service member receives a permanent change of station outside the continental United States or will deploy with a military unit for 180 days or longer.
To terminate the lease, the service member must:

- Provide written notice of the termination to the dealer;
- Include a copy of his or her military orders; and
- Return the vehicle within 15 days.

Service members cannot be charged extra fees for the early cancellation of the lease. However, service members can still be charged taxes, title, registration, and other fees, including charges for excessive wear and mileage due or unpaid on the date of the lease termination. Any advance payments made by the service member must be refunded within 30 days of the lease termination.

A sample SCRA automobile lease termination letter is included in the appendix to this guide.

Repossessions

Under the federal SCRA, creditors cannot repossess personal property, including automobiles, of active duty military personnel without a court order if the service member purchased or leased the property and made a deposit or installment payment before entering service. This protection does not apply to property purchased after entering active duty status. A court may stay repossession proceedings if a judge finds that the service member's ability to comply with the contract is materially affected by the individual's military service.

If you believe your SCRA rights may have been violated, you are encouraged to file a complaint with the Attorney General's Office as described later in this chapter.

Cell Phone Contract Termination

The federal SCRA allows active duty service members to terminate a cell phone service contract without having to pay early termination charges if:

- The service member receives military orders to relocate to a place where the service provider does not provide the coverage under the contract; and
- The service member will be in that location for 90 days or more.

To terminate the contract, the service member must:

- Provide written notice of the termination; and
- Include a copy of his or her military orders.

The law allows service members to retain their phone number. Family plans may be cancelled if the family moves with the service member.

Certain Service Contracts & Military Consumers

To supplement the protections provided under the federal SCRA, the Attorney General requested legislation passed in 2018 that amended state law to allow a military service member to terminate or suspend certain contracts for services under certain conditions. Under RCW 38.42.160, a military service member in receipt of orders for a permanent change of station or to deploy for thirty or more days may suspend or terminate a service contract without incurring additional fees or penalties for:

- Subscription television services;
- Internet services;
- Health studio services, such as a gym membership; or
- Other telecommunication services.

To terminate the contract, the service member must:

- Provide written notice; and
- Include a copy of his or her military orders.

Under the law, a service contract is terminated upon providing proper written notice. The law also allows military service members to restore such service contracts on similar or other favorable terms following completion of the service member's military service obligation.

A sample service contract termination or suspension request letter is included in the appendix to this guide.
Guarding Against Fraud and Scams

Unfortunately, some unsavory businesses and individuals target our nation’s veterans and service members. One way to decrease your risk of being taken advantage of is to utilize the consumer intelligence and support resources and tools offered by the Attorney General’s Office. More information and the latest news are available at the Office’s Scam Alerts website: www.atg.wa.gov/scam-alerts.

Pensions

The Washington State Pension Poacher Prevention Act was requested by the Attorney General in the wake of reports of unscrupulous “advisers” trying to convince veterans to transfer assets to a trust or invest in insurance products in order to qualify for federal VA pension benefits. What these “advisers” don’t say, however, is that there are no guaranteed VA benefits, that veterans can get free assistance in filing VA benefit claims, and that such asset restructuring may have serious consequences, including a loss of Medicaid eligibility. For more information about the types of questionable advice to watch out for, visit www.consumer.ftc.gov.

Under state law, it is a violation of the Consumer Protection Act to:

- Take compensation for assisting a veteran with a benefit claim, except as allowed under the rules governing accreditation by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA);
- Guarantee a specific benefit amount; or
- Misuse personal and financial information gathered for the purpose of assisting a veteran with a benefit claim.

Pension advances — or pension sales, loans, or buyouts — are also an area of concern from a consumer protection perspective. A pension advance involves pensioners giving up all or some of their monthly pension checks for a period of time in exchange for an upfront, lump sum cash payment. In many cases, the upfront cash is provided by individual investors who are drawn to the promise of a low-risk investment with returns at attractive interest rates. But for pensioners, pension advances often include costly and misunderstood fine print, such as exorbitant interest rates. The Federal Trade Commission offers tips and information related to pension advances at www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/0513-pension-advances-not-so-fast.

Charities

Many legitimate charities solicit donations to support the nation’s veterans and families of active duty military personnel. However, not all “charities” are legitimate. Some are sham operators with the only purpose of making money by taking advantage of the goodwill afforded the men and women of our Armed Forces. More information on charitable organizations and fundraisers, including what to watch out for, is available at www.atg.wa.gov/charities.

If you have concerns about a charity or fundraiser you suspect may be violating the Charitable Solicitations Act, you are encouraged to file a complaint with the Attorney General’s Office as described later in this chapter.

Consumer Complaints

Hearing from consumers with complaints and working to resolve them is an important part of how the Attorney General’s Office serves the residents of Washington State. The office uses complaints filed by consumers to help identify unfair and deceptive business practices that could warrant formal investigation and legal action by our office on behalf of the public interest.

The Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General’s Office offers a free informal complaint resolution service to help consumers and businesses resolve complaints when either the business or consumer is in Washington State.

How to File a Consumer Complaint

The Attorney General’s Office accepts complaints, filed by mail or online. The office is unable to accept complaints over the phone because the consumer must sign the complaint declaration.

To file a Complaint Online: Online complaints are the fastest way to file your complaint. The online complaint form is available at www.atg.wa.gov/file-complaint.

To file a Complaint by Mail: To request a paper complaint form to file by mail, you can call the Attorney General’s Consumer Resource Center toll-free at 1-800-551-4636.

The Consumer Resource Center reviews complaints filed with the office within seven business days and determines if there are issues appropriate for the informal complaint resolution service. The entire process typically takes between 40-60 days. Complaints are processed as follows:

- Upon intake, a complaint number is assigned. We will contact you to with the complaint number and the name of the staff person assigned to handle the complaint.
- We send a copy of the complaint to the business asking for a written response to the complaint for the public record.
- If the business does not respond within 30 days, we send the business a second request for a response to the complaint.
- If the business provides a response at any point, we will send you a copy of the response, which concludes the informal complaint resolution process. In many instances, businesses work to resolve the consumer’s complaint. However, through this process, the Attorney General’s Office cannot compel the business to resolve the issue in your favor.
- If the business fails to respond, that can also conclude the informal complaint resolution process. In such instances, staff will notify you and provide you with other possible options for trying to address the issue.
- The complaint about the business and its business practices will become part of our complaint records, which the office uses to help identify patterns of unfair and deceptive business practices.

More information about consumer issues and the types of complaints the Attorney General’s Office can assist in resolving is available at www.atg.wa.gov/safeguarding-consumers.
Overview

The men and women who put their lives on the line in service to our country shouldn’t have to stand in the unemployment line when they get home. Unfortunately, unemployment can be a struggle and many service members face challenges translating military experience into civilian employment.

The information provided in this chapter relates to select federal and state employment laws and protections specific to veterans, military personnel, and their families. Help may be available for veterans and service members seeking enforcement of these laws and, when that is the case, contact information for the appropriate agency is included.

Employment and Reemployment Rights

Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act

To minimize disadvantages and disruptions to individuals with military service obligations, the federal Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA) establishes certain rights and responsibilities for uniformed service members and their civilian employers.

USERRA applies to all employers, public and private, and protects the job rights and benefits of individuals who voluntarily or involuntarily leave employment to undertake military service. USERRA assures an employee returning from active duty military service or training the right to be reemployed to the same position they left (or a like position for which they are qualified) with the same benefits.

To claim USERRA protection, individuals must:

- Provide advance notice of their military service to their employer;
- Have less than five years of cumulative military service during their tenure with that particular employer (Certain time periods may be excluded from the cumulative five years);
- Have not been separated from service with a disqualifying discharge or under other than honorable conditions; and
- Return to work or apply for reemployment in a timely manner.

The U.S. Department of Labor’s Veterans’ Employment and Training Service (VETS) provides assistance with USERRA claims. VETS is authorized to investigate and resolve complaints of USERRA violations. For more information about USERRA, or for assistance in filing a complaint, contact VETS at 1-866-4-USA-DOL or www.dol.gov/vets.

If VETS is unable to successfully resolve a complaint, an individuals may request that a case be referred to the U.S. Department of Justice or the Office of Special Counsel. Individuals may also bring a private civil action against an employer for USERRA violations. VETS can provide more information about those options.
Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve

The U.S. Department of Defense’s Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) is another resource for information and help related to USERRA. ESGR does not enforce USERRA, but serves as a neutral, free resource for employers and service members.

ESGR’s Ombudsman Services Program provides information and mediation on issues related to USERRA. ESGR ombudsmen are volunteers located throughout the United States. The Washington ESGR office can be reached toll-free at 1-800-306-1971. You can find more information and submit questions at www.esgr.mil.

In addition to providing education resources, ESGR recognizes employers who support their Guard and Reserve employees by issuing awards because recognizing supportive employers is vital to ESGR’s mission.

Washington State Employment & Reemployment Laws

Mirroring the federal USERRA law, Washington’s employment and reemployment statute (RCW 73.16) establishes certain rights and responsibilities for uniformed service members and their civilian employers. The intent of the law is to ensure protections for state-activated personnel similar to those provided under USERRA for federal-activated personnel.

Under state law it is illegal to deny employment, reemployment, or any benefit of employment to service members because of their military association and obligations. Individuals who voluntarily or involuntarily vacate employment to serve in the uniformed services are eligible to be reemployed provided that:

- The employer has not experienced a change in circumstances that have made reemployment impossible or unreasonable;
- Reemployment does not impose an undue hardship on the employer; or
- The prior employment was not temporary.

State law also provides that any employee, once reemployed, will be considered as having been on a leave of absence and generally will not lose seniority, insurance, vacation, or other benefits they had previously earned.

To claim protections under state law, individuals must generally:

- Provide advance notice of their military service to their employer;
- Provide documentation of having been discharged under honorable conditions or other proof of satisfactory completion of service; and
- Return to work or apply for reemployment in a timely manner, which depends upon the type and length of service:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Length of Service</th>
<th>Deadline for Applying for Reemployment</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>30 days or less</td>
<td>Must report to the employer and return to work on the next regularly scheduled work day after completion of service and expiration of an 8 hour rest period.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>31-180 days</td>
<td>Must apply for reemployment and return to work within 14 days after completion of service.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>181 days or more</td>
<td>Must apply for reemployment and return to work within 90 days after completion of service.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If hospitalized for illness or injury during service</td>
<td>Must apply for reemployment and return to work after he or she recovers from the illness or injury, so long as the period of recovery does not exceed 2 years.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Washington state law tasks the Attorney General’s Office with enforcing the state law employment and reemployment protections (RCW 73.16.061). More information is available at www.atg.wa.gov/veteran-and-military-resources or by calling 206-464-6431. Individuals may also hire a private attorney to bring an action for enforcement.
Family and Medical Leave

Federal Family and Medical Leave Act

The federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) includes military family leave provisions, affording protections specific to the needs of military families. To qualify for FMLA leave, you must work for a covered employer and be an eligible employee. Most private employers with at least 50 employees and public employers are covered by the law. To be an eligible employee you must:

- Have worked for your employer for at least 12 months;
- Have at least 1,250 hours of service with your employer in the 12 months before you take leave; and
- Work at a location where your employer has at least 50 employees within 75 miles of your worksite.

Qualifying Exigency Leave

If your spouse, parent, or child of any age is a military service member who is deployed or has been notified of an impending deployment to a foreign country, and you work for a covered employer and are an eligible employee, you may be entitled to qualifying exigency leave. Qualifying exigency leave allows you to take up to a total of 12 workweeks of FMLA leave for qualifying exigencies, such as: making different day care arrangements for the military service member’s children; attending official military ceremonies as your family member deploys or returns from deployment; or spending time with a military service member on Rest and Recuperation Leave. FMLA leave taken to spend time with the service member during Rest and Recuperation Leave is limited to a period of 15 calendar days beginning on the date the military member commences each instance of Rest and Recuperation Leave.

Military Caregiver Leave

If you are the spouse, parent, child of any age, or next-of-kin of a covered service member, and you work for a covered employer and are an eligible employee, you may be entitled to military caregiver leave. Military caregiver leave allows you to take up to a total of 26 workweeks of unpaid leave during a single 12-month period to take care of your covered service member or covered veteran who has a qualifying serious injury or illness.

Employers are prohibited from interfering with, restraining, or denying FMLA rights. The U.S. Department of Labor’s Wage and Hour Division is responsible for administering and enforcing the FMLA for most employees.

If you have questions or you think that your rights under the FMLA have been violated, you can contact the Wage and Hour Division at 1-866-487-9243. More information about the FMLA and its protections for military families is available at www.dol.gov/whd/fmla.

Washington Military Family Leave Act

Washington’s Military Family Leave Act (RCW 49.77) supports military families and ensures they can spend time together before deployment and during a service member’s leave from deployment. Under state law, the spouse of a military service member may take up to 15 days of unpaid leave from work when the service member is deployed or called up to active duty during a period of military conflict. The 15 days may be split, but the leave must be used prior to the deployment or when the service member is on leave during the deployment.

The spouse of a military service member intending to take leave under the act must notify his or her employer within five business days of receiving official notice of the deployment, active duty, or leave from deployment. Also, the employee must work an average of 20 hours or more per week to be eligible for leave under the law. Employers may count leave taken under federal law as leave concurrently taken under state law.

The Washington State Department of Labor and Industries investigates complaints related to the Military Family Leave Act and other state protected leave laws. You can contact the Department at 1-866-219-7321. More information about Washington’s protected leave laws and instructions for filing a Protected Leave Complaint are also available at www.lni.wa.gov/WorkplaceRights/LeaveBenefits.
Military Leave for Public Employees

Washington law (RCW 38.40.060) provides up to 21 days of paid leave during a one-year period for public employees to report to required military duty, training, or drills. The leave is for any member of the Washington National Guard, reservists, and active military service members. As of June 2018, when calculating leave, a shift that begins on one calendar day and ends on the next calendar day shall only be counted as one day of leave. To align with the federal fiscal year, the one-year period runs from Oct. 1 to the following Sept. 30.

Hiring Preferences

Federal Veterans’ Preference

For many jobs with the federal government, veterans’ preference laws give eligible veterans preference in appointment. Although preference laws do not guarantee a job, veterans who are disabled or who served on active military duty during certain specified time periods or military campaigns are entitled to preference in hiring and retention. Veterans’ preference does not apply to internal agency actions such as promotions, transfers, reassignments, or reinstatements.

There are two designations of federal hiring preference for eligible veterans:

10-point preference
You qualify if you served at any time and have:

• A service-connected disability of any rating; or
• Received a Purple Heart.

5-point preference
You qualify if your active duty service meets any of the following:

• 180 or more consecutive days, any part of which occurred during the period beginning September 11, 2001 and ending on as August 31, 2010;
• Between August 2, 1990, and January 2, 1992;
• 180 or more consecutive days, any part of which occurred after January 31, 1955 and before October 15, 1976; or
• In a war, campaign or expedition for which a campaign badge has been authorized, or between April 28, 1952, and July 1, 1955.

The U.S. Department of Labor’s “Veterans’ Preference Advisor” is an online tool to determine the federal job preferences that may apply to you. For more information, visit www.dol.gov/elaws/vetspref.htm.

Washington Veterans’ Preference

Recognizing the sacrifices made by those serving in military, Washington State has enacted laws to assist veterans seeking employment with the state or local governments and public agencies. In general, a veteran must first be able to show an honorable discharge or have received a discharge for medical reasons with an honorable record in order to qualify for state veterans’ preference. Further requirements must be met depending upon the applicable law or rule. The applicable law depends on whether the employer administers a competitive examination as part of the hiring or promotion process.

When there is a Competitive Examination

If an employer administers a competitive examination to determine the qualifications of applicants, RCW 41.04.010 provides that a scoring preference is added to a passing score as follows:

• 10% is added for a veteran who served during a period of war or in an armed conflict and is not receiving military retirement, until the first appointment. This percentage is not added for promotional exams.
• 5% is added for a veteran who did not serve during a period of war or in an armed conflict or is receiving military retirement, until the first appointment. This percentage is not added for promotional exams.
• 5% is added for a veteran who was called to active duty while employed with the state, or any of its political subdivisions or municipal corporations. This percentage is added to promotional exams until the first promotion only.
All veterans’ scoring criteria may be claimed upon release from active military service with an honorable discharge or a discharge for medical reasons with an honorable record, or upon receipt of a separation order indicating an honorable discharge.

When there is Not a Competitive Examination

If an employer does not administer a competitive examination to determine the qualifications of applicants, RCW 73.16.010 provides that honorably discharged veterans, their surviving spouses, and spouses of honorably discharged veterans with a permanent and total service-connected disability shall be preferred for public appointment and employment. As interpreted by the courts, this law is not an absolute preference, but operates as a tiebreaker where two or more candidates have equal qualifications. An individual who believes he or she is entitled to a preference under this law can seek to enforce his or her rights by filing a civil action in superior court.

Private Preference Permitted

Under RCW 73.16.110, private employers may give hiring preferences to honorably discharged veterans. The law makes it clear that such preferences are voluntary, and are not violations of any state or local equal employment opportunity law.

Employment and Volunteer Opportunities

Washington State administers a number of programs to provide employment assistance and volunteer opportunities for veterans, some of which are highlighted below:

- WorkSource: WorkSource is a statewide partnership of state and local agencies that provides an array of employment and training services. Thousands of veterans find jobs through WorkSource each year. WorkSource offers priority access to services for veterans and has veteran employment specialists at most its centers. Visit www.worksourcewa.com to find the center nearest to you and for more information.

- The Veterans Conservation Corps (VCC): VCC connects veterans with opportunities and training to restore Washington’s natural habitat. Participant volunteers receive training in agriculture, stream restoration, forest restoration, and environmental education. The program also works to place veterans in internship positions. For more information visit www.dva.wa.gov/benefits/veterans-conservation-corps-program.

- Helmets to Hardhats: Helmets to Hardhats is a national program that connects National Guard, Reserve, retired, and transitioning military service members with skilled training and career opportunities in the construction industry. To get connected, visit www.dva.wa.gov/benefits/employment.

- Homeless Veterans Reintegration Program (HVRP): The U.S. Department of Labor grants HVRP funds for workforce reintegration services to homeless veterans, including structured case management to help veterans get back on their feet. These services are offered throughout Washington. To learn more, visit www.dva.wa.gov/benefits/homeless-veterans-reintegration-project.

Veterans seeking other employment resources can visit the Washington Department of Veterans Affairs at www.dva.wa.gov/benefits/employment.

Occupational Licenses

Military Service Members & Veterans

Under state law, a number of the state agencies responsible for licensing certain professions evaluate and accept military experience or training for purposes of meeting the qualifications for licensure.

Military Spouses

For some occupations, state law allows military spouses relocating to Washington to bring their occupational license to the state and continue to work.

Contact the specific licensing authority for your profession for more information.
Overview

As costs increase, the decision to pursue higher education can be challenging. However, both the federal government and Washington State offer benefits to service members, veterans, and their families to cover education expenses. Additionally, there are legal protections in place to ensure fair treatment and access in the education system. This chapter offers a summary of some of those benefits and protections.

Tuition and Fee Waiver

Under Washington State law (RCW 28B.15.621), public colleges and universities are authorized to waive all or a portion of tuition and fees for eligible veterans and military service members. Tuition waivers may also apply to a child or spouse in certain circumstances. Each institution operates its own waiver program, so contact the specific college or university with questions or to learn about how to apply for a tuition waiver.

Resident Tuition

Under state law (RCW 28B.15.012), current military service members, former military service members, and their spouses and dependents may be eligible for resident tuition rates at public colleges and universities, provided they meet the conditions under the appropriate category.
Servicemembers

To qualify for resident tuition, the student must:

• Be on active military duty stationed in the state or a member of the Washington National Guard; or
• Be on active military duty or a member of the National Guard stationed in another state, but have entered service as a Washington resident and maintain the state as a domicile.

Former Servicemembers

To qualify for resident tuition, the student must:

• Have separated from the military with more than 90 days of honorable active duty service;
• Be eligible for federal veteran educational assistance benefits; and
• Enter an accredited college or university within three years from separating from the military.

Spouses and Dependents

To qualify for resident tuition, the student must:

• Be the spouse or dependent of a person on active military duty or a member of the National Guard stationed in another state, but who entered service as a Washington resident and maintains the state as a domicile.
• Be a spouse, former spouse, or child entitled to transferred federal post-9/11 veterans education assistance benefits;
• Live in the state and be the spouse or dependent of a member of the Washington National Guard;
• Be the spouse or dependent of a former service member who has entered an institution of higher education in Washington and who qualifies for resident tuition; or
• Be entitled to veterans administration educational assistance benefits based on the student’s relationship with a deceased member of the uniformed services who died in the line of duty.

Rights of Military Students

Under state law (RCW 28B.10.270), a service member in the National Guard or any other military reserve component who is a student at an institution of higher education and who is ordered to active duty for more than 30 days has the right to:

• Withdraw, without negative annotation on his or her record, from one or more courses for which tuition and fees have been paid, and have such tuition and fees credited to the student’s account;
• Be given a grade of incomplete and be allowed to complete the course upon release from active duty; or
• Continue and complete the course for full credit, with absences due to military service counted as excused and not used to adversely impact the student’s grade or class standing.

A service member in the National Guard or any other military reserve component who is a student at an institution of higher education, and who is ordered to active duty for 30 days or less is entitled to make up any class, test, examination, laboratory, or other event upon which a course grade or evaluation is based. The makeup opportunity must be scheduled after the service member’s return from service and after a reasonable time to allow the student to prepare.

Under state law (RCW 28B.15.624), if the institution offers early registration for any other segment of the student population, a student who is a veteran, a National Guard member, or a spouse receiving veteran education benefits must be allowed to also register for their courses early.
Federal Education Benefits

The federal government offers education benefits to qualifying veterans, military service members, and their dependents. Examples are GI Bill assistance and Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment services. The Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs can help you access these education benefits, and you can contact the department for benefit claims assistance by calling 1-800-562-2308 or emailing benefits@dva.wa.gov.

Student Loans

Although military service members and veterans can earn specific benefits to help pay education costs, those benefits may not always be enough. Many service members rely on student loans to supplement their education benefits. To help residents understand and navigate student loan borrowing and repayment options, the Attorney General’s Office created a “Student Loan Survival Guide,” which is available online at www.atg.wa.gov/studentloanresources.
Overview

Issues related to housing can pose significant legal challenges for military service members and veterans. Military families often face frequent or unexpected moves. Regrettably, veterans continue to be overrepresented among our nation’s homeless population. This chapter highlights some of the protections and programs available to military service members and veterans with issues related to housing.

For Renters

Eviction Protections

The federal Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA) protects active duty service members and their dependents from being evicted without a court order. To qualify for this protection:

- The home must be occupied or intended as a primary residence;
- The monthly rent must be below the current rent ceiling ($3,716.73 in 2018; adjusted annually for inflation).

If an eviction action is filed, the SCRA provides that a court may temporarily stay the proceedings or adjust the amount of your financial obligation if the military service member (or dependent) can show that their military service has affected the ability to pay rent. Active duty military services members wanting more information should contact the nearest Armed Forces Legal Assistance office. The appendix includes instructions for how to contact the legal assistance offices located in Washington.

Residential Lease Termination

The federal SCRA allows active duty service members to terminate a residential lease in the following circumstances:

• If the lease was entered into prior to active duty, when the service member is called to active duty for 180 days or more; or
• If the lease was entered into during active duty, when the service member receives orders for a Permanent Change of Station or to deploy with a military unit for more than 90 days.

To cancel a lease under the SCRA, a service member must deliver written notice to the landlord with a copy of the military orders. The effective date of termination is 30 days after the first date on which the next rental payment is due. A sample SCRA residential lease termination letter is available in the appendices to this guide.

Residential Landlord-Tenant Act

The Washington Residential Landlord-Tenant Act covers most circumstances where a tenant rents a place to live, such as an apartment or a rental house. The law outlines many of the rights and responsibilities of both tenants and landlords. The Attorney General's Office does not have a role in addressing residential landlord–tenant issues because the State Supreme Court has ruled such matters fall outside of the state's consumer protection laws.
Nonetheless, to help inform individuals about the law and their rights, the Attorney General's Office provides information and resources about landlord-tenant issues at www.atg.wa.gov/landlord-tenant.

Under State law, month-to-month rentals may normally be terminated by either a tenant or the landlord upon delivery of written notice at least 20 days before the end of the monthly rental period. Members of the Armed Forces (including members of the National Guard and Reserves), however, may terminate a month-to-month rental agreement with less than 20 days' notice if the service member receives reassignment or deployment orders that do not allow for a 20 day notice. (RCW 59.18.200)

For rentals for a specified term, state law provides that any tenant who is a member of the Armed Forces (including members of the National Guard and Reserves) may terminate the lease early if the tenant receives reassignment or deployment orders, and provides notice of the orders no later than seven days after receipt. (RCW 59.18.220)

Manufactured/Mobile Homes

There are factors unique to the relationship between a manufactured/mobile home owner and their landlord. The difficulty and expense of moving and relocating a manufactured/mobile home creates unique challenges. The Attorney General's Office is responsible for administering the Manufactured Housing Dispute Resolution Program, to help resolve disputes and alleged violations of the Manufactured/Mobile Home Landlord-Tenant Act (MHLTA). An individual is eligible to participate in the dispute resolution program if he or she owns a manufactured home or mobile home and rents a lot for that home in a community or park.

In general, the MHLTA requires 30 days' written notice prior to the expiration of the rental agreement for termination. However, Washington State law provides that any tenant of a lot who is an active duty member of the Armed Forces (including members of the National Guard and Reserves, or that tenant's spouse or dependent) may terminate the lease on the lot early if the tenant receives reassignment or deployment orders that do not allow greater notice, and provides notice of the orders no later than seven days after receipt. (RCW 59.20.090)

Under the Manufactured Housing Dispute Resolution Program, manufactured/mobile home owners who are current on their rent or landlords may file a request for dispute resolution if they believe that there may be a violation of their rights under the MHLTA. The Attorney General's Office may work with the parties, determine whether further investigation is needed, decide if a violation has occurred, and issue fines and other penalties when appropriate.

More information is available by calling the program toll-free at 1-866-924-6458 or by visiting www.atg.wa.gov/manufactured-housing-dispute-resolution-program.

For Homeowners

SCRA Protections

If a service member obtained a mortgage prior to active duty, the federal SCRA requires that a mortgage lender must obtain a court order before the home can be foreclosed on during any period of military service and for one year thereafter. If a lender seeks such an order, the court may temporarily stay the proceedings or adjust the amount of the service member's obligation when it can be shown that military service impacted the service member's ability to meet the financial obligation. Active duty military service members can seek assistance from the nearest Armed Forces Legal Assistance office or file a consumer complaint with the Attorney General's Office.

Down Payment Assistance

Veterans looking to purchase a home may be able to take advantage of the Veterans Down Payment Assistance Loan Program available from the Washington State Housing Finance Commission. For more information visit www.wshfc.org/buyers/keyveterans.htm.

Homeless Veterans

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) offers vouchers for housing, called HUD-VASH (Veterans Affairs Supportive Housing), to veterans facing homelessness. Any federal Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Medical Center should be able to screen for eligibility and refer a veteran to the program. The VA will connect the veteran to the appropriate case management support for assistance in finding the veteran decent, safe, and sanitary housing. For more information, see www.hudexchange.info/programs/hud-vash.

Under RCW 59.18.255, property managers and landlords may not discriminate against veterans who are otherwise eligible tenants by refusing to accept HUD-VASH vouchers.

Housing Discrimination

For both rental contracts and real estate transactions, state law prohibits housing discrimination based on honorably discharged veteran or military status. The Washington State Human Rights Commission enforces the state’s law against discrimination. Complaints must be filed within 12 months of when the discrimination occurred. You are encouraged to file a complaint with the Human Rights Commission if you believe that:

- You have been discriminated against or otherwise denied equal treatment or access; and
- The discrimination was because of your military status or status as an honorably discharged veteran.

For more information on how to handle discrimination in housing matters, visit www.hum.wa.gov/fair-housing.

Property Tax Relief

For Disabled Veterans

Under state law (RCW 84.36.381), veterans with a 100% service-connected disability rating from the federal VA may qualify for a property tax exemption. In addition to the total disability rating from the VA, the veteran must own and occupy the residence, and meet certain income requirements. Under the exemption program, the value of a qualifying veteran’s residence is frozen for property tax purposes, and the veteran becomes exempt from all excess and special levies, which often results in a reduction in overall property taxes.

For Surviving Spouses

Under state law (RCW 84.39), surviving spouses of certain veterans may qualify for a property tax assistance grant program. Household income, age or disability, and the deceased spouse’s veteran status determine eligibility for the program.

For more information about these and other property tax relief programs, contact your county assessor’s office or visit the state Department of Revenue’s website at www.dor.wa.gov/find-taxes-rates/property-tax/property-tax-exemptions-and-deferrals.
Overview

Military life can be highly demanding, not just on individual service members, but also on their families. Frequent moves to different duty stations or long deployments sometimes make it even more difficult for families to resolve legal issues that arise, such as child custody determinations or divorce. The law has provisions specific to military and veterans’ families that encounter these challenges.

Child Custody/Visitation & Parenting Plans

In recognition of the realities of military life, state law (RCW 26.09.010) allows a parent who serves in the military and who is a party to a child custody or visitation matter, to request:

- An expedited hearing; or
- Electronic testimony and presentation of evidence by telephone, teleconference, or over the internet.

Courts generally require the requesting party to show good cause and that the military service has or will have a material effect on the parent's ability to appear in person at a regularly scheduled hearing.
In some instances, a military parent may receive orders that involve moving a substantial distance away or which may otherwise have a material effect on that parent’s ability to exercise residential time or visitation rights. In such circumstances, the military parent may ask the court to delegate his or her residential time or visitation rights to a family member with a close and substantial relationship to the minor child for the duration of the military parent’s absence, if doing so is in the child’s best interest.

Under Washington law (RCW 26.09.260), the effect of a parent’s military duties potentially impacting parenting functions is not, by itself, a substantial change of circumstances for the purposes of modifying a parenting plan. In addition, the court may not look unfavorably on any time periods during which the parent did not exercise residential time as a result of that parent’s military duties.

Child Support

To make sure children’s needs are met, the State Legislature established a child support schedule that courts use to set child support payments. Payment amounts are based on the total income earned by both parents and several other factors. Informational packets and self-help resources for parents facing child support issues are available at www.WashingtonLawHelp.org/issues/family-law/child-support.

In 2015, state law (RCW 26.18.190) was amended to ensure that when a veteran's federal VA benefits are apportioned to pay child support, that the amount paid via apportionment will be treated for all purposes as if the veteran paid the benefits toward the satisfaction of the child support obligation.
Overview

Accessible health care is essential for the quality of life of veterans and military service members, especially those who suffer from ongoing health issues or disabilities. This chapter provides information about health care resources available to qualifying military service members and veterans.

VA Medical Facilities

To support the health care needs of veterans, the federal Veterans Health Administration oversees the largest integrated health care system in the country. There are several VA hospitals and clinics in Washington. To learn more about VA health services and benefits or to determine eligibility call 1-877-222-VETS (8387) or visit www.va.gov/healthbenefits.

Veterans Homes

Washington State has four Veterans Homes, which are Medicaid and Medicare certified facilities. To be eligible for admission, applicants must have:

- Served at any time, in any branch of the U.S. Armed Forces, including the National Guard;
• Received an honorable discharge;
• Reside in Washington State;
• Be the spouse of a resident or widow of an eligible veteran; or
• Be a Gold Star Parent of a child who died while in service to his or her country, or as a result of his or her service.

Washington’s Veterans Homes provide 24-hour nursing care, medical care, pharmacy services, and other supportive programs, such as physical therapy and hospice. More information is available at www.dva.wa.gov/veteran-homes/veterans-homes.

Mental Health Services

The Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs (WDVA) offers confidential counseling services to Washington’s veterans and family members. Counseling is available for Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, readjustment, bereavement, military sexual trauma, suicidal ideation, and other important mental health needs. More information about these services and a list of approved counselors and providers is available at www.dva.wa.gov/benefits/counseling.

Traumatic Brain Injury

Military service members and veterans who served during the conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan have higher rates of Traumatic Brain Injuries (TBIs), which can affect a wide range of functional abilities including thinking, sensation, language, and emotions. WDVA offers a program to address the unique needs of veterans who have experienced a TBI. For more information visit www.dva.wa.gov/benefits/traumatic-brain-injury-tbi.
Overview

The unfortunate reality is that military service members sometimes incur or aggravate existing injuries or disabilities during service. A disability can be physical, such as a back injury or chronic knee pain, or the disability can relate to an individual’s mental health, such as Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) or Military Sexual Trauma (MST). Under both federal and state law, veterans and service members with disabilities have access to a range of support and accommodation, some of which are highlighted in this chapter.

Disability Compensation

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) offers disability compensation to eligible veterans for injuries or diseases incurred or aggravated during service. Veterans seeking assistance with pursuing disability compensation can contact the Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs. The department’s Veterans Service Offices and statewide referral service are staffed with qualified service officers who can assist veterans and family members in accessing VA disability compensation benefits. More information is available at www.dva.wa.gov/benefits/claims-assistance.

You can contact the state department for assistance with disability compensation claims by calling 1-800-562-2308 or emailing benefits@dva.wa.gov.
Service Animals

Under both state and federal law (RCW 49.60.215 and the American with Disabilities Act), individuals with disabilities are allowed to bring service animals into places of public accommodation, like businesses, government offices, and other areas open to the general public.

The law defines a service animal as a dog that is individually trained to perform a task related to the disability benefitting from such task. There is no requirement for service animals to wear harnesses or have any kind of certification, but they must not cause a disturbance.

Understanding the law is critical because violating the rights of a service animal handler or purposefully misrepresenting an animal as a service animal can potentially result in legal consequences. To help service animal handlers and businesses understand their respective rights and responsibilities under the law, the Attorney General’s Office released an informational flyer, which is available online at www.atg.wa.gov/publications (under “Civil Rights”).

Adapted Housing

VA provides grants to military service members and veterans with certain permanent and total service-connected disabilities to help purchase or construct an adapted home, or modify an existing home to accommodate a disability. Two grant programs exist: the Specially Adapted Housing (SAH) grant and the Special Housing Adaptation (SHA) grant. You can learn more about these grants by visiting www.benefits.va.gov/homeloans/adaptedhousing.asp.
Overview

The information provided in this chapter addresses other provisions in the law and matters pertinent to military service members and veterans that do not fit neatly into the topics already covered in this guide, but which are nonetheless important.

WA Law Against Discrimination

Under the Washington Law Against Discrimination (RCW 49.60), it is illegal to discriminate on the basis of “honorably discharged veteran or military status.” The law applies to any individual who served in any branch of the Armed Forces, including the National Guard and Reserves, fulfilled his or her service obligations, and received an honorable discharge or a discharge for medical reasons with an honorable record. It also includes any individual who is currently an active or reserve member in any branch of the Armed Forces, National Guard, or Reserves.

The Washington Law Against Discrimination prohibits discriminatory practices in the areas of:

- Employment;
- Places of public resort, accommodation, or amusement;
• Housing and real estate transactions; and
• Credit and insurance transactions.

The Washington Human Rights Commission enforces the Law Against Discrimination. You are encouraged to file a complaint with the Human Rights Commission if you believe that:

• You have been discriminated against or otherwise denied equal treatment or access;
• The discrimination was because of your military status or status as an honorably discharged veteran; and
• The discrimination occurred in one of the covered areas.

Complaints must be filed within six months of the time when the discrimination occurred (or 12 months if the complaint is about housing).

The Human Rights Commission can be contacted at 1-800-233-3247 or online at www.hum.wa.gov.

An employer who discharges, expels, or otherwise discriminates against a person for filing a charge with the Human Rights Commission is engaging in an unfair practice. Concerns about retaliation for filing a complaint should also be reported.

Discharge Upgrades

When a military service member is discharged from a branch of the Armed Forces, he or she receives a certificate of release that specifies a reason for discharge and a characterization of service. Many of the benefits discussed in this guide require a qualifying characterization of service for eligibility. Those benefits include VA healthcare and some state benefits.
Other Provisions

Former military service members may apply to their branch of military service to change their discharge information. Through this process, veterans can seek to upgrade the characterization of service and/or reason for separation, which, if successful, may result in eligibility for benefits. For example, many Vietnam era veterans were discharged based on actions or behaviors that might now be characterized as indicative of PTSD, but less was known at the time about the psychological effects of high-stress combat situations. To address such circumstances, the Department of Defense issued guidance on discharge upgrades in circumstances where PTSD may have been overlooked.

If you believe you received an improper or unfair military discharge or characterization of service that warrants an upgrade, you may be able to request a review and seek one. More information about the process and standards of review is available at www.RepWAVets.org/discharge-upgrades.html.

County Veterans’ Assistance Funds

Under state law (RCW 73.08.010), each county in Washington State is required to establish a fund to help veterans and their families in financial need. The fund, often referred to as the Veterans’ Assistance Fund or Veterans’ Relief Fund, is generally used to help veterans with financial hardships address emergent needs, such as help with utility bills and rent, and food assistance.

The fund is administered at the local level, which means the type of assistance available and the process for seeking assistance varies from county to county. The Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs maintains a contact list for the administrator of each county’s Veterans’ Assistance Fund at www.dva.wa.gov/benefits/county-services.
Estate Management

The Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs offers a Veterans Estate Management Program that offers protective payee services for veterans and family members who are incapable of managing their own financial affairs. By assuming custody of the individual’s finances, the program helps ensure basic needs such as housing, food, clothing, and medical care are provided. For more information you can call the department at 1-800-562-2308 or visit www.dva.wa.gov/program/estate-management.

Veteran-Owned Businesses

Washington State law (RCW 43.60A.200) encourages state agencies to award 3% of all contracts exempt from competitive bidding requirements to certified veteran-owned businesses. The Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs manages the certification process and maintains a registry of service member and veteran-owned businesses. More information is available at www.dva.wa.gov/program/veteran-owned-business-certification.

Special License Plates

In recognition of their service, veterans with a 100% service-connected disability, former prisoners of war, Gold Star family members, and Congressional Medal of Honor recipients may be eligible for exemption from certain vehicle license fees. Some individuals may also be eligible to receive special plates that do not have to be renewed.

In addition, the Washington State Department of Licensing issues special veteran and military license plates along with service award plates, such as the Purple Heart. For plates where an additional fee is applicable, a portion of the fee for these specialty plates is allocated to activities that benefit veterans, such as maintaining the state veterans’ cemetery and providing programs and services for homeless veterans.

More information about free disabled veteran license plates and special license plates is available from the Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs at www.dva.wa.gov/program/license-plates.

Driver Licenses & ID Cards

For Veterans

As of 2017, you can get a veteran designation on your Washington State driver license or ID card. Adding the designation is free, but there may still be charges if you are adding other endorsements, updating information, or renewing your license.

To obtain a veteran designation, you will need to provide a copy of your DD Form 214 or an equivalent document that shows you have a discharge status of “honorable” or “general under honorable conditions.”

For Military Service Members

Under state law, the driver licenses of active duty military service members and their spouses are valid during the term of military active duty service. Drivers in the military (and their spouses) can obtain a Department of Licensing (DOL) Authorization card indicating that the driver license is valid for 90 days after separation from the military or the date on the card, whichever is longer.

Especially if the license itself shows an expiration date that has passed, military service members and spouses should carry both their military identification, or military dependent identification, and the DOL Authorization card in case they are stopped by law enforcement.

For more information, visit the Washington State Department of Licensing’s website at www.dol.wa.gov/driverslicense/military.html.

Veteran ID Cards

There are many types of identification cards you can use to show you are a veteran, including, for example, a Department of Defense ID Card, a Veteran Health ID Card, or a Veteran Choice Card. The different cards allow veterans access to different services.

More information about the types of cards, and the eligibility and application process is available online at www.va.gov/records/get-veteran-id-cards.
Overview

The resources in this appendix are intended to give military service members and veterans tools they can use to be proactive about taking full advantage of the benefits and protections afforded to them under the various state and federal laws discussed in the guide.

Contents of Appendix

Below is a list of the contents of this appendix, which correspond to and are organized in accordance with the chapters of this guide.

Legal Assistance (pages 45-46):

A list of civil legal assistance programs and legal information resources focusing on military service members and veterans, including information on how to connect to services from providers.

Consumer Protection (pages 47-50):

Self-help template letters military personnel can use to exercise their rights under the federal Servicemembers Civil Relief Act and state law.
Specifically, the template letters address:

- 6% interest rate cap;
- Automobile lease termination;
- Residential lease termination; and
- Service contract termination.

Employment (page 51):

An informational tool that members of the National Guard can use to remind themselves and their civilian employers about their respective rights and obligations when National Guard members get called to state active duty or need to report to training.

Military Spouses (pages 52):

An information sheet designed to increase awareness among military spouses about Washington State benefits and resources available to them.

Other Resources (pages 53-54):

Contact information for a few of the many agencies and organizations that help serve Washington State’s veterans and military personnel is provided for convenience; inclusion is not equivalent to endorsement.

6% Interest Rate Cap Request Letter

Re: SCRA Interest Rate Reduction for Acct # [fill in account number]

Dear Sir/Ma’am:

I have been placed on active duty with the Armed Forces of the United States effective [fill in date placed on active duty] and I am requesting that my monthly obligation, including payments and interest on my account, be reduced pursuant to my rights under the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA), 50 U.S.C. §3901 et seq.

My military service materially affects my ability to meet this obligation, which I incurred prior to active duty. I have attached a copy of my military orders for your file.

The SCRA (50 U.S.C. §3937) sets a 6% per annum ceiling on interest charges (including service charges, renewal charges, and fees) during the period of a service member’s military service for obligations made before the entry into active duty when the active duty materially affects the ability to pay. Thus, under the law, the balance of my obligation may not have interest charged at a rate greater than 6% per annum and any interest above 6% must be forgiven and not accrued. Note that compliance with this law is mandatory upon the creditor once the service member makes a request. Failure to comply with such a request can subject the creditor to damages and penalties.

Please ensure that your records are amended to reflect that my obligation has been reduced to no more than the statutory maximum rate of 6% and that any charge in excess is withdrawn. Finally, please be advised that you may not repossess for non-payment of an installment obligation without first complying with the provisions of the SCRA.

Thank you in advance for your attention and prompt action to this matter. Should there be any questions, please feel free to contact me at [your phone number or the number of someone holding a power of attorney to handle this matter].

Sincerely,

Re: SCRA Lease Cancellation for Vehicle VIN # [fill in VIN of vehicle]

Dear Sir/Ma’am:

I have been placed on active duty with the Armed Forces of the United States effective [fill in date placed on active duty]. I am the lessee of a [fill in year, make, model] with the VIN # [VIN of leased vehicle] and I am invoking my rights under the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA), 50 U.S.C. § 3901 et seq.

My deployment materially affects my ability to pay for and my need for the vehicle.

The SCRA (50 U.S.C. §3955) allows a military service member to terminate a vehicle lease if the service member receives deployment orders for greater than 180 days. In this case, I will be deployed to [location of deployment] for at least [number of days ordered to deployment]. I have attached a copy of my military orders for your file.

In accordance with the SCRA, I have mailed this notice via certified mail, return receipt requested, and I have already left the vehicle with [name of lessor]. The representative I have been working with is [Mr. / Mrs. Name of contact person], and [he/she] may be reached at [phone number for contact person]. Therefore, the effective date of the lease termination is the postmark date of this letter.

Thank you in advance for your cooperation in this matter. Should there be any questions, please feel free to contact me at [your phone number or the number of someone holding a power of attorney to handle this matter].

Re: SCRA Residential Lease Termination

Dear Sir/Ma’am:

I have been placed or am currently on active duty with the Armed Forces of the United States effective [fill in date placed on active duty]. I am the lessee of [address of rental residence], and I am invoking my rights under the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA), 50 U.S.C. § 3901 et seq.

My [deployment / permanent change of station] materially affects my need for and ability to reside in this rental property.

The SCRA (50 U.S.C. §3955) allows a military service member to terminate a residential lease if the service member receives deployment orders for greater than 90 days, or if a service member receives orders for a permanent change of station. Such is the case for me and I have attached a copy of my military orders for your file.

In accordance with the SCRA, I have mailed this notice via certified mail, return receipt requested. Therefore, unless we have agreement otherwise, the effective date of termination is 30 days after the first date on which the next rental payment is due and payable after the date on which this notice was delivered.

I will [mail / drop off] my keys when I have vacated the rental premises. All security deposits and prorated future rents that may have been paid must be returned to me within 30 days of the termination of this lease. Please mail these monies to: [forwarding address].

Thank you in advance for your cooperation in this matter. Should there be any questions, please feel free to contact me at [your phone number or the number of someone holding a power of attorney to handle this matter].

Re: Service Contract [Termination / Suspension] under RCW 38.42.160

Dear Sir/Ma’am:

I am a military service member and have received orders for a permanent change of station or to deploy with or in support of a military operation for at least 30 days. I have an existing contract with you for [choose type of services: telecommunications services / internet services / health studio services / subscription television services]. My customer and/or account number is [customer/account number]. I have attached a copy of my military orders for your file.

Pursuant to RCW 38.42.160, which permits military service members to terminate or suspend certain services without penalty, fee, loss of deposit, or other additional costs, I am writing to request that you [terminate / suspend] my contract.

I have mailed this notice via certified mail, return receipt requested, and state law provides that the effective date of a termination or suspension under RCW 38.42.160 is the date notice is given. Therefore, the effective date of the contract [termination / suspension] is the postmark date of this letter. I am not liable for payment for any services after the [termination / suspension] is effective.

Thank you in advance for your cooperation in this matter. Should there be any questions, please feel free to contact me at [your phone number or the number of someone holding a power of attorney to handle this matter].

National Guard State Active Duty Employment Rights: Info Sheet

Information:

Washington State Employment and Reemployment Rights

Federal and state laws protect the civilian employment rights of military personnel, including members of the National Guard and Reserve. This information provides an overview of the rights and responsibilities of employers and employees under state law.

Uniformed Service Members

For more information, contact the Washington Army National Guard Employment Assistance Center at 1-800-223-9001 or visit www.wa.army.mil/edc.

Employment Rights

Federal and state laws provide protections for military personnel in the civilian workforce. These protections include:

- Reemployment rights
- Discrimination protection
- Family and medical leave
- Other employment rights

The Washington Army National Guard Employment Assistance Center offers assistance in understanding and applying these laws.

Pre-Employment Considerations

Before accepting a job, it is important to consider:

- Employment eligibility
- Disciplinary consequences
- Deployment considerations

Employment Considerations

During employment, it is important to:

- Maintain eligibility
- Follow deployment schedules
- Notify employer of changes

Reemployment Rights

After separation from military service, it is important to:

- Notify employer of separation
- Provide necessary information
- Obtain reemployment

Discrimination Protection

It is unlawful for an employer to discriminate against a military service member on the basis of military status or service.

Family and Medical Leave

Military service members are entitled to family and medical leave for certain family and medical reasons.

Other Employment Rights

Military service members are entitled to other employment rights, including:

- Equal employment opportunity
- Protection from retaliation
- Right to return to same or equivalent position

Applicable Laws

State law (Chapter 71B RCW) provides the applicable laws for unemployment compensation.
Washington State Benefits & Resources for Military Spouses

Deployments or relocations can cause uncertainty and disruption in the lives of military families. These realities can sometimes pose challenges for military spouses as they adapt to a new community, try to find meaningful employment, or potentially deal with a period of single parenthood when their spouse who is serving in the military is away.

Washington State, in collaboration with national and local partners, recently announced the launch of the first statewide Military Spouse Economic Empowerment Zone. The collaboration brings government and private sector organizations together to address the challenges faced by military spouses as they search for meaningful career opportunities. More information about Washington’s Military Spouse Economic Empowerment Zone and the resources available to military spouses is available at www.hiringourheroes.org/mseez.

To help highlight the ongoing efforts to support military spouses, this information sheet provides an overview of some of the provisions in Washington State’s laws benefiting military spouses and links for connecting to additional information.

Occupational Licenses

For some occupations, state law allows military spouses relocating to Washington to bring their occupational licenses to the state and continue to work. Military spouses can contact the licensing authority for their professions for details:

Other Professions
Washington State Department of Licensing
360-902-3600

Education

State law provides education benefits for military spouses, potentially including:
- Tuition and fee waivers at Washington’s public universities and colleges for qualifying military spouses in certain circumstances; and
- Resident tuition rates for qualifying military spouses.

More details about these potential benefits and how to qualify are available in the “Education” chapter of the Washington State Attorney General’s Military & Veteran Legal Resource Guide available online at the link below.
www.atg.wa.gov/veteran-and-military-resources

Family Leave

To allow military families to spend time together prior or during periods of deployment, state law allows an employee whose spouse is a military service member to take 15 days of leave when the spouse is notified of an impending call to active duty or when the spouse is on leave from an active duty deployment.

The Washington State Department of Labor and Industries has additional details about Washington’s Military Family Leave Act, including the qualifying conditions for protection and how to file a protected leave complaint, available online at the link below.
